THIS ESTABLISHMENT is conducted by Mr. Bradley, late of Parramenta, an superismed teacher of considerable celebrity, who enjoys the felicity of seeing many of his Australian pupils filling places of public utility and eminence, both in the commercial and official departments of the colony.
THE SYSTEM embraces every branch of a sound English education, including practical sound English education, including practical mathematics, the use of the globes, and astronomy; with classical literature, and the politic encomplishments of French, drawing, music, and fencing, by competent meeters. Pupils of due age and alementary acquirements are prepared for commercial, agricultural, naval, or military pursuits, in a comparatively short period, while their progress is acquirement averaging their studies to their future avocations.

scaping their studies to their future avocations.

The seneral treatment and secommodations of yearly, quarterly, or dinner boarders, will, as heretofore, give ample estisfaction. The locality is eligible, and ealebrious. The play grounds contiguous to the Play Staff are pleasant, affording picturesque views of the surrounding senery of the city, and the benefit of the bracing sea breeze.

To prevent the evils of long vacations, the duties of this establishment will be resumed on Wednesday the 3rd of January, when the punstual attendance of day scholars and boarders will be required.

Terms of admission will be published in a subsequent advertisement, and personal applications received at the Establishment, or by letter, addressed to the principal.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

THE following extraordinary Cures are authenticated by Mr. John Stephens, of Adelaide, the respectable proprietor of the Adelaide Observer and South Australian Register, Analoge Conserver and Scala Australian Reguler, and have been published in his papers:

George Muncton, a settler in the bush, who had been suffering for four months with a swollen leg, and in such pain as to deprive him of sleep, was recommended to try Holloway's Pills, at the same time using the Ointment, as directed. In the course of a fortnight, the cure was so far effected as to permit him, on the 7th October, to walk into Adelaids without pain, a distance of tweaty miles, to give us this statement for the information and benefit of his fellow-creatures.

Will be held at the City Mart, 474, Georgestreet,
THIS VERY MORNING,
At 11 of look presidents.

THE Auctioneer, in announcing this sale and all others he may be favoured with, request he may be excused from following that fulsome description now so much in vogue with the profession. Considering that the fairest and best method for all parties concerned is, to afford intending purchasers every facility for trial, and then let every article speak for itself. Acting on this principle, purchasers are invited to test any lots prior to the sale—the samples for which will be at the Mart by 8 o'clock in the morning.

With these preliminary remarks, the Auctioneer begs to subjoin a summary of the Sale List; and in respectfully requesting the attendance of the public, will only call their attention to three plain facts, viz.—

intends to propose a measure to the Council for an uniform four-penny postage, a proposal which we hope will be scouted the very moment it is introduced. During a short interregnum, when the old postage system in England was in a state of transition to the uniform penny postage, a uniform four-penny postage was tried, but after a few weeks it gave way to the present system. And so in New South Wales, if the Government commence by reducing the postage of a letter to four-pence a further reduction must innen, John Arundell and William Shaw, were in company at Mr. Jones's public-house, the Crown and Kettle, York-street, the former, being at the time considerably under the in-fluence of liquor, he handed to Mrs. Jones four £l notes to take care of, who accepted the trust, and deposited the notes in her bosom, where also were four others, her own property —one for £10, one for £5, and two £1 each. About an hour afterwards, Mrs. Jones, who About an hour afterwards, Mrs. Jones, who was indisposed, retired to her chamber, previously handing to Mr. Turley, her father-inisw, a bundle of notes, stating from whom she had received them, and under what circumstances, requesting that in case of Arundell's return before she came down stairs, he (Mr. Turley) would give them to him. Some time afterwards Arundell and Shaw came in; the former saked for his notes, when Mr. Turley unrolled the notes Mrs. Jones had given to him, and counted down four. Arundell took them up, said they were right, and he and Shaw went away. About an hour after this Mrs. Jones came down stairs, and on taking the remaining notes from her bosom, discovered that she 'delivered to Mr. Turley her own £17 instead of Arundell's £4. Immediate information was given to the Police, and in the course of the evening Arundell was apprehended by Sergeant Adams, and Police, and in the course of the evening Arundell was apprehended by Sergeant Adams, and Shaw by Constable Clarke, and both were confined on a charge of fraud. On Saturday, the charge was brought on before Captain Innes and Mr. Miles, who were about to order a remand until Monday, for the production of evidence that the prisoner changed a £10 and a £5 note in the course of the evening, when Mr. Nichols, as course of the evening, when Mr. Nichols, as course for Arundell, submitted to their worships that they had no power to keep the prisoners in custody, that according to the showing for the prosecution, admitted for the sake of argument that it was all the truth, there had been no larceny, there could be no felony without a trespass, and here there was no trick or artifice on the part of the prisoners, in order to obtain the notes. nere there was no trick or artifice on the part of the prisoners, in order to obtain the notes. It amounted in law to a breach of trust merely, and was a proper case for the adjudication of the Court of Requests. Their Worships considered the point, and held that Mr. Nichol's view was the correct one. The prisoners were consequently discharged from custody.

BURGLARY .-- At an early hour yesterday morning an entrance was effected into som-premises at the rear of Mr. Thompson's cot-tage, at Annandale, when there was stoler some portions of a carriage harness, a ham, and some shirts belonging to one of the do-mention.

supported by the testimony of a female servant, who was outside the premises at the time of the defendant's coming on the farm, and observed the whole of their subsequent proceedings. There was a further statement made by Mrs. James that, at the time of her being put out of the house, she had in the bosom of her dress the sum of £3 los, and two keys, which she missed immediately after her ejectment, but although looked for directly afterwards it could not be found. After these proceedings, a messenger was sent to Sydney, to Mr. Ogilby, who immediately proceeded to the farm, and on his arrival there found the doors of the house and the detached premises closed, as also every window, except one at which Murphy was standing with a small carpenter's saw in his hand. Mr. Ogilby demanded possession of the premises, when Murphy replied, he'd neither allow him nor any person sent by him to enter them. Mr. Ogilby said he'd seek his remedy, and send the police, on which Murphy brandished the saw, and said, he'd knock down all the police one after another. Mr. Ogilby then proceeded to Parramatta, procured a warrant, and by midnight the whole of the defendants were in clustody. The only defence set up was, that the deed of lesse had not been signed, which actually was the case, but the draft of it had been approved of by the contracting parties, and the document itself was in the hands of a solicitor awaiting execution. The whole of the defendants were committed for trial, but allowed bail in a heavy amount.

SCARLATIMA.—There is a great prevalence of this disease in Parramatta. Although it has appeared in a very severe form, there are as yet no fatal results to report. THE KISSING POINT WHARF .- About a fort

THE KISSING POINT WHARF,—About a fort-night since a notice appeared of a wharf being in the course of erection at this locality, at the end of the old break-neck stone one. It is now completed, and is a most substantial struc-ture. This is a very great improvement, under-taken by Mr. John Lowe, a resident on the river, and at his private cost; it is in every re-spect deserving of praise. The ladies espe-cially are bound to render him sincere thanks, for as the steamers can now lang and embark cially are bound to render him sincere thanks, for as the steamers can now land and embark their passengers without boats, what an amount of disagreeableness is avoided? There has not only convenience for steamer passengers been studied, but also pleasure for the denizens of Kissing Point afforded, as on the platform of the new jetty seats have been placed where those journeying up and down the river may rest awaiting the arrival of their conveyance, and those out on wholesome exercise may sit enjoying the fine scenery of the river and the refreshing morning and evening breeze. If a suggestion might be afforded, it would be to rig such a stage as would descend from the wharf to the steamer, so that a horse might be disembarked at it. NEW & FROM THE INTERIOR WINDSOR.

WINDSOR.

Police Boat.—Yesterday, a boat of very superior build and construction arrived at our wharf destined for the Police service, and with the view of putting a stop to the illicit traffic of spirits on our river. A short time since, the Bench, on the application of the Chief Constable, applied to his Excellency the Governor for a boat, and the result was the Harbour Master in Sydney was directed to purchase one, the cost not to exceed £25.

The Conone and the result was the Corone for a boat, and the result was the Corone for a boat, and the result was the Harbour Master in Sydney was directed to purchase one, the cost not to exceed £25.

The Conone to write to the Attorney General, requesting him to order an investigation into the conduct of some of the constabilary, for not immediately forwarding him a notice of the discovery of a body found fosting in one of the ponds on the Hambledon Farm, Windsor road (an account of the inquest upon which has already appeared.) The Coroner, like many others in this town and district, seems to think the constables cannot efficiently perform their duties, when they are allowed, as at present is the case, to make and vend ginger beer, draw water for sale, turn horse breakers and dealers, with many other pursuits too numerous to particularise. However, until the investigation taker place, which is likely to be in few days, I will refrain from further comment. The Weavher.—For the last week we have had extremely hot weather, moderated be a great blessing now to refresh the grass and young corn, which seem to suffer very much from the scorching influence of the sun; the gardeners are also crying out, and say without a speedy visitation of moisture everything will be burnt up.

BATHURST.

QUARTER SESSIONS.
THE SITTINGS of this Court were held on Thursday, the 14th inetant, at Mr. Patrick White's Hote', before the Crainnan, sasisted during the day by Mesars. Boswell, Moniser, Lane, Parka, and G. Rankin.
The only barrister present was T. Callaghan, Esq., Crown Prosecutor; attornies, Mesars. Howe, M'Intosh, Stephen, and Wadeson.
The first case celled was Lanceny.

Howe, M. Intosh, Stephen, and Wadeson.

The first case colled was LERCENY.

Prancis Cavanagh was charged with stealing a silver watch, the property was variously laid as in William Harris and Robert Thorpe. It appeared that in September last, William Harris, who lives on the Lachlan, had entrusted a watch to Thorpe to bring to Bathurst to get repaired. Thorpe placed the watch in a handkerchief, and locked it up in a box which he had on the dray; on the following merning it was found the ropes with which this box had been fastened on the dray had been cut, and the box stolen; on making a search, the box was found about 300 yards from the dray, broken to pieces, and the watch and some orders for money stolen therefrom; the prisoner had been offering a silver watch for sale, and information was given to the chiefconstable, who went to Martel's publichouse, and there found the prisoner in the tap-room; on searching his person a watch glass was found on him; he had been sitting on a table, and on the spot where he had been sitting a watch was found to fit it; this appeared to be the only proof to bring home the case to the prisoner, as the prosecutor could not clearly identify the watch as his property; he did watch was similar to the one he had given by thought the watch, but he would not swear that the watch, but he would not swear that the watch, but he would not swear than the watch was his.

"The detence Mr. H. Perrigr was caused as to character, on behalf of Hooper. He said he had been in his employ for three years, during which period he had every reason to be satis-fied with his conduct; but of what he (Hooper) had been doing for the last five years he could say nothing.

The Jury, after an absence of more than an hour, returned a verdict of guilty against both prisoners.

lic roads two years each.

Daniel Torressy, charged with larceny, and who had been brought before the Court in June last, in consequence of the absence of a material witness was allowed to go at large on his own recognizances, to appear when called on. lic roads two years each.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

John Lacey and Jeremiah Higgins, both free by servitude, were charged with stealing from the person of James Harrop, sundry orders for the payment of money.

John Lacey and Jeremish Higgins, both steeling from the person of James Harrop, sundry orders for the payment of money.

The Crows Proskectron stated that the prisoners had been committed by the Bench of Magistrates at Mudgee, and this he had received a certificate from a medical gentleman there, to the effect that the most material witness could not attend at these sessions.

Mr. McIntone made application that the prisoners should be admitted to bail.

Mr. Callaghan had no objection to this, but submitted that the amount of bail should be by the prisoners in £50 each.

Mr. McIntoner in £50 each, and two survices for each of them in £25 each.

Mr. McIntoner in £50 each, and two survices for each of them in £25 each.

The Chairman then ordered that the prisoners should at once enter into their ownercognizance for the amount named, and that the recognizance of the sureties should be taken at Mudgee, from whence they had been committed; when this bail was completed they should be allowed to go at large, to appear when called on.

Four jurymen not answering when their names were called, were sentenced to pay a fine of 40s, each. They all however shouly after appeared in Court, made suitable excuses, and the fines were remitted.

James Davies, free by servitude, was indicted for stealing sundry bullook bows and yeles the pleaded guilty and was sentenced to twelve months in irons on the public reads.

Edward Ewer was indicted for burglar; i second count charged him with lareny.

He was defended by Mr. Wadeson.

on searching the rear of the premises it had been found that a slab had been removed from near the fire-place, and the lock from the back door forced off.

The Jury, after an absence of half an hour, returned a vardiet of guilty.

Sentence — six months' imprisonment in Sathurst Gool with hard labour.

This desent he business of the sitting of the si that out of these five he was satisfied were retailing spirituous liquors; one of them pitched his camp in the neighbourhood of the Big River, and during one night sold liquors to the amount of £30. It is much to be regretted that some means are not adopted to check this growing evil. No one except the sufferers can form an idea of the mischief done by these itinerant illicit retailers of grog—on the occasion alluded to there was a great congregation of stockmen, shepherds, and hutkeepers, of course their masters' herds and flooks left uncared for, while they indulged in their libations. This is not, however, the only evil inflicted on society by these travelling pests. Servants to indulge in these libations will not, many of them, scruple to rob their employers, and it is a notorious by these travelling posts. Servants to indulge is these libations will not, many of them, scruple to rob their employers, and it is a notorious fact that many of these venders of the spirituous are often recipients of stolen property. The inakeeper, who has to pay high rent and other heavy charges, is seriously injured, and the sooner some remedy is applied the better. The facility with which hawkers' licenses are granted in this district is disgraceful. There is in fact little or no enquiry as to the character of the applicants if he employs some official to draw up his petition and undertake to forward the matter. The license in nine cases out of ten is granted as a matter of course.

SMALL DEETS COURT.—The usual sittings of this Court was held on Monday, the 11th; there were 87 new and 4 remanded cases. The only magistrate present for several hours was H. Heathorn, Eq., who refused to adjudicate in any cases over the amount of £5, unless with the consent of both parties; consequently, several cases were remanded until the following day, to the serious inconvenience of the parties interested. About 5 r.m. the Court adjourned until the following day. About an hour previous to this J. B. Richards, Eq., sppeared on the Bench. On Tuesday, the Folice Magistrate joined Mr. Hesthorn, and the list was gene through by one r.m. Burely it is high time that some means were adopted to relieve the residents of these districts from the serious inconveniences they have long been submitted to from the non-nitendence of magistrates—the list is rather ammerous, but if it be found not sufficiently so, these could be no great difficulty in selecting two or three of the most respectable inhabitants of the town to put into commission as they are almost always on the spot; such an arrangement would go far to remedy the evil complained of.
